

Teaching Psychology

A Step by Step Guide

Sandra Goss Lucas • Douglas A. Bernstein

Contents

Preface	IX
1 Introduction	1
Some Basic Principles of Effective Teaching	3
The Scholarship of Teaching	6
Your Role as a Teacher	9
Some Final Comments	14
2 Preparing Your Courses	15
How Do I Start?	16
Choosing a Textbook	18
Creating a Syllabus	20
Setting Up a Grading System	29
Communicating With Your Students	37
Some Final Comments	39
3 The First Few Days of Class	40
Exploring Your Classroom	41
Establishing Yourself as a Teacher	42
Presenting Your Syllabus	44
Learning Your Students' Names	49
Setting the Stage for Group Work	50
Ending the First Class	51
Some Final Comments	52

4 Developing Your Teaching Style 55

Some Characteristics of Effective Teachers	56
Effective Lecturing	59
Promoting Active Learning	69
Conducting Memorable Demonstrations	72
Answering and Asking Questions	73
Stimulating Class Discussions	77
Assigning Student Presentations	80
Creating Opportunities for Cooperative Learning	81
Using Case Examples	86
Arranging for Service-Learning	89
Encouraging Critical Thinking	90
Teaching Style and Class Size	94
The Last Day of Class	96
Some Final Comments	98

5 Evaluating Student Learning 99

Some Guidelines for Assessing Student Learning	100
Tests and Quizzes	101
Written Assignments	112
Applying the Psychology of Learning to Student Evaluation	123
Some Final Comments	126

6 Faculty-Student Relationships 127

The Ethical Use of Teacher Power	128
Managing the Classroom Climate	129
Dealing With Students' Needs, Excuses, and Complaints	135
Dealing With Problem Students	144
Dealing With Academic Dishonesty	154
Enhancing Students' Motivation to Learn	163
Providing Academic Help	169
Protecting Students' Privacy	177
Writing Letters of Recommendation	178
Ethics in the Faculty-Student Relationships	180
Some Final Comments	184

7	Using Teaching Technology	186
	High-Tech Teaching Tools	187
	PowerPoint Slides	188
	Classroom Internet Access	191
	CD-ROM Ancillaries	192
	Textbook Web Sites	194
	Web Links and Resources	195
	Asynchronous Web Components for Traditional Classes	196
	Instructor Web Sites	200
	Student-Instructor E-Mail	200
	Web-Based Courses	204
	Some Final Comments	206
	Resources	206
8	Assessing and Improving Your Teaching	208
	Sources of Evaluative Feedback on Teaching	209
	Student Evaluations	209
	Evaluations by Colleagues	222
	Self-Evaluation	226
	Faculty Development Activities	229
	Some Final Comments	234
9	Integrating Teaching Into Your Academic Life	236
	Balancing Teaching, Research, and Service	237
	Dealing With Teaching Anxiety	240
	Some Final Comments	246
	References	249
	Author Index	265
	Subject Index	271