

Intellectual Property and Human Development

Current Trends and Future Scenarios

A Publication of Public Interest Intellectual Property Advisors

Edited by Tzen Wong and Graham Dutfield

Contents

Boxes	page	ix
Contributors		xi
Foreword by Sakiko Fukuda-Parr		xvii
Preface by Michael A. Gollin		xxi
Acknowledgements		xxv
Acronyms and abbreviations		xxix
Overview		xxxv
1 Intellectual property through the lens of human development		1
Tzen Wong
1 The expanding matrix of intellectual property rights		5
2 Rationales, checks and balances		16
3 Capabilities and innovation		27
4 Multiple ways of viewing development		36
5 Conclusion: Re-posing the questions		46
2 Intellectual property and medicine: Towards global health equity		60
Claudia Chamas, Ben Prickril and Joshua D. Sarnoff
1 Overview of intellectual property issues and trends relating to health		61
2 Strategies and public-private initiatives for research into new medicines and vaccines		84
3 Future scenarios relating to intellectual property and health		88
4 Conclusion		95
3 Food security and intellectual property rights: Finding the linkages		103
Hans Morten Haugen, Manuel Ruiz Muller and Savita. Mullapudi Narasimhan
1 The right to food: A conceptual and legal background		106
2 Trends in agricultural innovation and technology: The impact on farming communities in developing countries		112
3 Intellectual property rights in agriculture		117

4	Enclosure of the commons and some reactions	123
5	The challenges ahead for developing countries: Ensuring better use of genetic resources and more targeted research and development	127
6	Conclusion	131
4	Trends and scenarios in the legal protection of traditional knowledge	139
	Charles McManis and Yolanda Teran
1	Fundamental concepts and distinctions in the legal protection of traditional knowledge	140
2	Transmission and loss of traditional knowledge	142
3	Principal international agreements relevant to the legal protection of traditional knowledge	143
4	Trends in the legal protection of traditional knowledge	148
5	Conclusion	166
5	Traditional cultural expressions: Preservation and innovation	175
	Tzen Wong and Claudia Fernandini
1	Concepts and definitions	175
2	Circulation and commodification of traditional cultural expressions	178
3	Limited protection of traditional cultural expressions through copyright, moral rights and design rights	184
4	Labels denoting origin and other characteristics	188
5	Fixing or innovating?	198
6	Some sui generis forms of protection for traditional cultural expressions	201
7	Use of codes of ethics and protocols to supplement legal provisions	207
8	Conclusion	210
6	Copyright and capability for education: An approach 'from below'	218
	Margaret Chon
1	Linking intellectual property to development	219
2	Linking development to capabilities	222
3	Linking capabilities to educational access	225
4	Linking educational access to copyright	229
5	Substantive equality: Copyright and capability for basic education	233
6	Conclusion	241
7	Knowledge and education: Pro-access implications of new technologies	250
	Dalindyebo Sliabalala
1	Technology, education and copyright	251

2	Pro-access implications of information technology on knowledge and education	254
3	Legislative developments and pro-access strategies	261
4	Conclusion	274
8	Cultural diversity and the arts: Contemporary challenges for copyright law	279
	Tzen Wong, Molly Torsen and Claudia Fernandini
1	Some concepts and definitions	280
2	Cultural rights and intellectual property rights	282
3	Emerging framework of protection for cultural diversity	286
4	Revisiting copyright as an economic incentive to create	289
5	Public access to cultural works: Nurturing capabilities for creative expression	298
6	Changing notions of authorship	308
7	Technology as a driving force for change	310
8	Some scenarios and reflections for the future	314
9	Conclusion	319
9	Scenario planning on the future of intellectual property: Literature review and implications for human development	329
	Michael A. Gollin, Gwen Hinze and Tzen Wong
1	Scenario planning and intellectual property	329
2	Intellectual property in the year 2025	330
3	The future of the public domain: Scenario analysis	336
4	Challenges and opportunities from new technology	342
5	Scenario planning and the Development Agenda	350
6	Conclusion	357

Appendices

APPENDIX A.	Capability, opulence and utility	367
APPENDIX B.	Exploring alternative, collaborative models of innovation for medicines and vaccines	369
APPENDIX C.	Strategies and laws to promote traditional medicinal knowledge	376
APPENDIX D.	Educational use exceptions to copyright: A comparison among selected jurisdictions	379
APPENDIX E.	Copyright and contemporary art: A case study	383
	Index	389