

Deleuze and Cinema

The Aesthetics of Sensation

Barbara M. Kennedy

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: Discovering the Beautiful Stranger ...	1
Part One
1 From Micro-politics to Aesthetics	9
2 From Oedipal Myths ... to New Interventions	38
Part Two
3 From Abstract Machines to Deleuzian Becomings	67
4 Constituting Bodies - from Subjectivity and Affect to the Becoming-woman of the Cinematic	84
5 Towards an Aesthetics of Sensation	108
Part Three
6 Orlando - Deleuzian Landscapes of Immanence	125
7 The English Patient - Deleuzian Landscapes of Immanence	147
8 Romeo and Juliet - Deleuzian Sensations	163
9 Strange Days - Deleuzian Sensations	180
10 Reconfiguring Love ... A Deleuzian Travesty? Leon and a Molecular Politics via the Girl and the Child	193
Bibliography	215
Filmography	223
Index	225