

THE CAMBRIDGE COMPANION TO

BECKETT

---

Edited by John Pilling

CONTENTS

List of contributors	page	ix
Preface		xiii
Chronology of Beckett's life		xv
List of abbreviations		xxi
A note on titles		xxii
1 An endgame of aesthetics: Beckett as essayist RUPERT WOOD		i
2 Beckett's English JOHN PILLING	fiction	17
3 Three novels and four nouvelles -, giving up the ghost be born at last PAUL DAVIES		43
4 Waiting for Godot and Endgame : theatre as text MICHAEL WORTON		67
5 Stages of identity: from Krapp's last tape to Play PAUL LAWLEY		88
6 Beginning again: the post-narrative art of Texts for nothing and How it is H. PORTER ABBOTT		106
7 The mediated Quixote: the radio and television plays, and Film JONATHAN KALB		124
8 Dead heads: damnation-narration in the 'dramaticules' KEIR ELAM		145
9 Disabled figures: from the Residua to Stirrings still ANDREW RENTON		167

CONTENTS

10	Beckett's poems and verse translations or: Beckett and the limits of poetry ROGER LITTLE	184
11	Beckett as director: the art of mastering failure ANNA McMULLAN	196
12	Beckett's bilingualism ANN BEER	209
13	Beckett and the philosophers p. j. MURPHY	222
	Further reading	241
	Index of works by Beckett	245
	General index	247