A collection of jewelry-making components is displayed on a light-colored, textured fabric background. In the upper left, there are two brass gears of different sizes, one with a sunburst design in its center. To their right is a single brass nut. Further right, a silver beaded necklace with a lobster clasp is partially visible. In the lower right, a larger silver beaded necklace is shown with a circular pendant. The pendant features a spiral design in the center and the words "comes around goes around" stamped in a circular path around the spiral.
