
Marketing Research in a Marketing Environment

D I L L O N ■ M A D D E N ■ F I R T L E

Brief Contents

Introduction	The Practice of Marketing Research	1
PART I Marketing Research Environments		15
Chapter 1	Realistic Marketing Research Environments	16
Chapter 2	Planning a Research Project	39
PART II Acquiring Data: An Overview
Chapter 3	Secondary Information: Traditional Sources and New Technologies	75
Chapter 4	Syndicated Sources of Purchase Behavior and Media Exposure Information	106
Chapter 5	Survey-Interviewing Methods	128
Chapter 6	Experimental Research Methods	157
PART III Sampling Theory and Practices
Chapter 7	Sampling Fundamentals	211
Chapter 8	Procedure for Drawing Probability Samples	245
PART IV Measurement, Scaling, and Questionnaire Design
Chapter 9	Basic Concepts of Measurement	278
Chapter 10	Measurement Scales	298
Chapter 11	Attitude Scaling and Measurement Models	318
Chapter 12	Questionnaire Design and Construction	345
PART V Data Processing and Analysis
Chapter 13	Data Processing and Tabulation	404
Chapter 14	Preliminary Data Analysis	427
Chapter 15	Data Analysis: Hypothesis Testing	451
Chapter 16	Measures of Association and Regression Analysis	493

PART VI Applications

Chapter 17	Market Studies	576
Chapter 18	Concept and Product Testing	607
Chapter 19	Name and Package Testing	630
Chapter 20	Advertising Research Practices	642
Chapter 21	Test Market Studies	658
Chapter 22	Marketing Decision Support Systems	675

PART VII Report Preparation

Chapter 23	Presenting the Research	716
------------	-------------------------	-----

Statistical Appendices	738
-------------------------------	------------

Glossary

Name Index

Subject Index