

LINGUISTIC CHANGE

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORICAL STUDY OF LANGUAGE

E. H. STURTEVANT

WITH A NEW INTRODUCTION BY ERIC P. HAMP

ANALYTICAL TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
I. INTRODUCTION ON THE NATURE OF LANGUAGE . . .	I
1. Relation between Speech and Writing	I
a) Development of Alphabets	2
b) Imperfections of Alphabets	6
2. The Analysis of Language	10
3. Phonetics	14
a) Consonants	15
b) Vowels	17
c) Syllables	21
4. Relation between Form and Meaning	23
5. Imitation	24
6. Change in Language	29
II. PRIMARY CHANGE OF FORM	32
1. Mistakes during the Learning of a Language	33
a) Defective Hearing	33
b) Defective Reproduction	34
c) Learning Foreign Languages	36
2. Associative Interference	37
a) Analogy	38
(1) Analogy Based on Meaning Groups	38
(2) Analogy Based on Functional Groups	40
(3) Analogical Creation	42
b) Association within the Sentence	44
(1) Anticipation	44
(2) Repetition	49
(3) Metathesis	50
(4) Dissimilation	52
3. Rhythm	56
a) Stress-Rhythm	57
b) Pitch-Rhythm	59
c) Quantitative Rhythm	60
4. Speed of Utterance	60

CHAPTER	PAGE
5. Ease of Articulation	61
6. Spelling and Pronunciation	65
7. Custom and Pronunciation	65
8. Unknown Factors	66
III. SECONDARY CHANGE OF FORM	68
1. Changes Affecting Several Words	68
a) Empirical Description	68
(1) Usually Regular	68
(2) Sometimes Irregular	74
(3) Gradual Spread	76
b) Explanation	78
(1) Gradual Change	78
(2) Sudden Change	79
2. Isolated Changes	82
a) Causes of Isolation	82
(1) Fewness of Models	82
(2) Association of Change with Meaning	83
b) Contrast with Regular Change	83
IV. CHANGE OF MEANING	85
1. Semantic Change Erratic	85
2. Types of Semantic Change	86
a) Shift of Emphasis	86
b) Worn-out Figures of Speech	89
c) More Specific Meaning Due to a Modifier	92
d) More General Meaning Due to a Pleonastic Modifier	93
e) Analogical Change of Meaning	94
3. Semantic Rivalry	96
a) Survival of Several Meanings	97
b) Loss of One of Several Meanings	97
V. CHANGE IN VOCABULARY	99
1. Reasons for the Loss of Words	99
a) Loss of Ideas	99
b) Exact Synonymy	99
c) Taboo	100

CHAPTER	PAGE
2. Reasons for the Rise of New Words	103
a) New Ideas	103
b) Desire for Novelty	107
c) Taboo	108
d) Change of Model	109
3. Sources of New Words	109
a) Analogical creation	109
(1) Composition	110
(2) Derivation	113
(a) Suffixes	113
(b) Prefixes	118
(c) Significant Change in the Body of a Word	118
(d) Inverse Derivation	120
b) Variant Forms	121
c) Loan-Words	121
d) Words from Proper Names	125
e) Original Creation	127
(1) Interjections from Expression Movements and the Like	128
(2) Imitation of Movements and Sounds of Nature	129
VI. CHANGE IN SYNTAX	131
1. Analogy	131
a) Meaning Groups	131
(1) Of Words or of Sentences	131
(2) Of Words and Sentences	133
b) Functional Groups	135
c) Formal Groups	135
2. Change of Form	137
3. Change of Meaning	139
a) Shift of Emphasis	139
b) More Specific Meaning Due to a Modifier	143
c) More General Meaning Due to a Pleonastic Modifier	143
d) Figures of Speech	144

CHAPTER	PAGE
VII. LANGUAGE AND DIALECT	146
1. Linguistic Variation	147
a) Division of a Community	147
b) Variation within a Community	148
c) Dialect Mixture	151
d) Rate of Variation	152
2. Classification of Speech	153
3. Growth of Larger Linguistic Communities	155
a) Common Language	155
b) Literary Language	155
c) Standard Language	157
VIII. The TREND OF LINGUISTIC DEVELOPMENT	159
1. Adequacy	160
a) Mental Horizon	160
b) Analysis	161
(1) Substantive States of Consciousness	161
(2) Transitive States of Consciousness	162
c) Association	167
2. Convenience	171
a) Regularity	171
b) Economy	172
(1) Avoidance of Repetition	172
(2) Significant Word-Order	172
(3) Short Words	173
(4) A Test of Economy	174
3. Can We Assist Linguistic Improvement?	175
INDEX	179