

Skills in
EXISTENTIAL
Counselling & Psychotherapy

Emmy van Deurzen &
Martin Adams

Series Editor
Francesca Isaksson

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	x
About the Authors	xi
Introduction	1
1 The Framework of Existential Therapy	7
Theoretical background and history	7
Some of the major existential philosophers	13
Limits of human living: the givens of existence	15
Living in time	22
Living with paradox	23
Anxiety and the givens of existence	24
The mind and the body	24
2 The Person of the Therapist	27
Who are you?	27
The use of life experience to reflect on life and its meanings	27
Being-with: reciprocity and trust collaboration	30
Capacity for self-reliance and individuality	33
Transparency and wisdom	34
Who are you as a therapist?	35
The importance of personal therapy in your training	36
How to use supervision?	37
3 Working Phenomenologically: The Centre of Existential Therapy	39
Phenomenology: assumptions, biases, blind spots and the worldview	39
The assumptions of existential therapy	41
Questioning assumptions	41
Working phenomenologically	42
4 Developing an Existential Attitude	57
Openness to experience	57
Boundaries and consistency	60

Mutuality and dialogue	63
Self-disclosure	65
Directiveness, directness and direction	69
5 From Theory into Practice	71
Expression and self-expression: the paradox of the self	71
Identifying themes and issues	73
Identifying values and beliefs	76
Emotions as a compass	80
Choice and responsibility	89
Anxiety: authenticity, guilt and bad faith	91
Working with dreams and the imagination	96
6 What Really Matters to the Client	101
Some first principles	101
Dilemmas, conflicts and tensions	102
The physical dimension. Coming face to face with life and death: the reality of change and loss, in the Umwelt .	105
The social dimension. Isolation and connectedness: relationships in the Mitwelt	107
The personal dimension. Freedom and a personal sense of integrity: life patterns and the original project in the Eigenwelt	113
The spiritual dimension. Consistency of values, beliefs and principles in the Überwelt	117
7 The Process of Existential Therapy	123
Existential therapy as storytelling	123
Meeting, assessment and diagnosis	124
Note taking	126
The influence of the frame and the context of therapy	126
The first session and the contract	128
Length of the contract	130
Fees	131
The beginning and end of sessions	132
Working through, reluctance and resistance	133
Endings and termination	135
Therapy as a learning process	137
8 Putting it All Together: Summing Up	144
Summarizing the philosophical basis of existential practice	144
Summarizing the principles of existential practice	145
Developing a personal style	149

••• Contents •••

Glossary	150
Bibliography	156
Index	160