

SCIENTIFIC GENIUS

A psychology of science

DEAN KEITH SIMONTON

Contents

|   |                  |
|---|------------------|
| List of tables and figures         | page viii |
| Acknowledgments                    | ix               |
| 1. The chance-configuration theory        | 1                |
| 2. Impressionistic evidence               | 24               |
| 3. Personality and individual differences | 41               |
| 4. Productivity                           | 60               |
| 5. Developmental antecedents              | 107              |
| 6. Multiple discovery and invention       | 135              |
| 7. Creative genius in science             | 177              |
| References                         | 201              |
| Name index                         | 221              |
| Subject index                      | 224              |