

Contents

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Preface for the 0–8 Series – Edited by Tina Bruce	xvii
Introduction	xix
1 What Is Movement?	1
Theoretical framework of movement	3
The body: what takes place	5
The body in action	5
Body design	8
Body articulation	9
Body shapes	10
Bodily fluency	13
Dynamics: how movement takes place	14
Weight	14
Qualitative space	16
Time	16
Flow	17
Dynamics in context	17
Space: the medium in which movement takes place	18
Size and extension	19
Zone	19
Direction	20
Level	21
Pathways and patterns	21
Relationships: the moving body interrelates	23
The body relates to itself	23
The body relates to objects	27
The body relates to other people	28
Summary	29

2	Learning to Move	30
	Knowledge in the making	31
	Early 'handling' experiences	33
	Expressive interaction	34
	To move appropriately is a sign of development	36
	Early rhythmic play: accents and emphasis	37
	Developing shared play	39
	Ongoing movement development	43
	Balance	44
	Throwing	50
	A young appetite for movement	53
	Movement activity related to the stable environment	54
	The mobile and acrobatic use of the body	55
	Handling objects and making them move	57
	The expressive use of the body	59
	The movement curriculum in early childhood education	59
	The responses of very young children	59
	Summary	60
3	Moving to Learn	61
	Action, feeling and thought	61
	A research project	63
	Setting up the programme	64
	The programme in action	64
	Analysing the results	65
	The next step	69
	Movement and spatial schema	69
	Observing Kriss at play: a structured environment	70
	The department store: an unusual play environment	74
	The supermarket: it's me that makes it happen	74
	A height and depth of experience: adjusting the environment	75
	Children and objects in motion	77
	Self-made rules	78
	Appropriate provision	80
	Families, friends and significant others: mother and daughter	81
	Family games: brothers play together	83
	Friends compete: on their own terms	83
	A school setting	85
	Summary	86

4	The Learning Teaching Environment	87
	Making a good start	87
	Learning and teaching: a movement-based environment	88
	In and around the home: natural and structured environments	90
	Water play and beyond	92
	Where games begin	95
	Shall we dance?	97
	Moving away from home: provision for the youngest children	97
	Provision in primary schools	100
	Learning situations: a flexible guide	101
	Free exploration	102
	Movement schemas and free exploration	102
	Extending schemas	103
	Schemas become more co-ordinated	103
	Guided exploration	104
	Consolidation	105
	Extension	106
	Half an hour with Lucy: an assessment of action schemas	108
	Summary	112
5	Supporting, Extending and Enriching Movement	113
	Selecting appropriate learning phases	113
	A flexible approach	114
	Making suggestions and setting challenges	115
	Observation	116
	Looking and talking together	117
	Examples of sample activity sessions	119
	Starting, supporting, checking and recording	124
	Summary	126
6	A Matter of Expression	127
	Establishing the boundaries	127
	All movement is expressive	128
	Moods and movement	128
	Making a note of it	130
	Personal style	131
	Perry and Jake: movement expression in context	132
	The classification of movement re-visited	135
	How children move: making an 'effort'	135
	Assessing expressive behaviour	139
	Shobana's movement profile	140

	Timothy's movement profile	143
	Linking records	146
	Movement implications within general record-keeping	146
	The broader picture: a comprehensive movement profile	147
	The purpose of detailed movement observation	149
	The 'movement repertoires' of parents, carers and teachers	150
	Children observe adults too	151
	Child-to-child interaction	152
	Summary	154
7	Creating, Performing and Appreciating Dance	155
	Children as creators, performers and appreciators	155
	Identifying the nature of the provision for the very young	157
	The child as creator or dance-maker	158
	Helping the dance architecture take place	159
	Dances cannot be made from nothing	161
	Sources and resources	161
	The child as performer	166
	The child as spectator, appreciator and critic	172
	Dialogue and dance: a shared activity	173
	The legend of Panku	175
	Widening the image of dance	177
	For those children with a special interest in dance	178
	Summary	181
8	Dance in Statutory Education	182
	Where does dance belong?	182
	Interpreting guidelines and attaining targets	183
	Theory into practice	184
	Where do we go from here?	184
	Mix and match	185
	Preparation and reflection	186
	The Foundation Stage	187
	Making it up as we go along	187
	Introducing a blowing bubbles dance	189
	Blowing bubbles dance	190
	An introduction to the punching and jumping dances	191
	A punching and jumping dance (1)	193
	A punching and jumping dance (2)	194
	Key Stage 1	194
	Our winter dances	194

Our winter dances: rationale, review and reflections	196
Cymbal Dance	197
Cymbal dance: rationale, review and reflections	199
Key Stage 2	200
Firework dances	200
Firework dances: rationale, review and reflections	202
Anything you can do I can do better	203
Anything you can do I can do better: rationale, review and reflections	205
Summary – or starting point	206
9 Conclusion	207
Bibliography	208
Index	215